

Code Red

"Me And My Thin Promises"

Visit "Me And My Thin Promises" on MotoLyrics.com

What can I say, I've lost a day
When all thoughts seem rearranged
With the picture oh-so-clear
But I can't see it.
I figure it's just another way.
It's the only path that I can take.
Can you spot the signs, flashing in your mind?

So I keep thinking that my stupid dreaming is all I need
To keep ahead of a world without eyes.

So I keep searching around and around
With no hope left to find, broken promises in our minds.

To understand, it's just a game.
Time to wonder how it's played
With the rules that never stay the same.
It's time I even up the score,
Confusion spread through open sores,
Breaking point, a wanting need.

Visit Code Red page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.