Still searching for your call today, sit down
And structure will you be the engineer?
Still tired and dreaming out again and overboard
When pain kills, you'll hate me and wait for, or

Then call me crazy and pretend
I left us discontent and afraid
So what? So I'm crazy yeah, then send me
Justice and I'll have Paris in flames

Still searching for your faith in the arm
That killed the president, relapse, waiting here for
Still searching for your face in the crowd
That killed the president, relapse, waiting here for

I need Mayo
(I won't fail you now)
Dear captain, send the SOS
When we're gonna go down

I need Mayo
(I won't fail you now)
Dear captain, send the SOS
When we're gonna go down

Wound open and squeezing my heart against
This pain inflicts in passion I bleed for it
But with this, what they gave me, yeah, this book
And flint and a match to go with it

Still searching for your faith in the arm
That killed the president, relapse, waiting here for
Still searching for your face in the crowd
That buried New Mexico I'll be waiting here for

I need Mayo
(I won't fail you now)
Dear captain, send the SOS
When we're gonna go down

I need Mayo
(I won't fail you now)

Dear captain, send the SOS
When we're gonna go down

Have you ever heard the lyrics he sang?
In his thoughtful transmission
The words lost sentence remain

Sing his song, sing his song, loud
Structure will you be the engineer?
Where's your song?
Or have you lost the key or tone?

Thank God for your strength now
Will you hold your breath?
Waiting for me to exhale
In the short life lived

Thank God for your strength now
Will you hold your breath?
Waiting for me to exhale
In the short life lived

God, God, God, when you live
God, God, God, when you live
When you live, when you live
