YOU'RE A HEAVENLY THING
Benny Goodman

They took the moonlight out of the skies and put the moonlight right in your eyes like a june night
You're a heavenly thing

They took the fragrance out of the dew and sprinkled roses all over you like a garden
You're a heavenly thing

They made a clinging vine your embrace stars that shine light your face to combine everything on your lips they put the breath of spring and then they finished called it a day they took the model threw it away like an angel
