One look and you could see I aint no big deal
Just a common, Average, ordinary guy

My truck is all beat up
And barely running

I can't explain just how I caught her eye

She's so much more than I ever imagined
Have to pinch myself
To makes sure this is happenin

But she's real as the night we met
She aint just in my head
She's flesh, and blood, that I can touch, and see
And feel

I've got a wild imagination
Never though that I'd be waking
With the likes of her
Lying next to me

She beats all I ever dreamed

It's unnatural how much we have in common
From Norman Rockwell prints
Too old stray dogs
We both love to sit and listen to the old folks
Talk about days that are long gone

Sometimes I think
She's just an illusion
When she's holding me
I come to the conclusion

She's real as the night we met
She aint just in my head
She's flesh, and blood, that I can touch, and see
And feel

I've got a wild imagination
Never though that I'd be waking

With the likes of her
Lying next to me

She beats all I ever dreamed

And I've got a wild imagination
Never though that I'd be waking
With the likes of her
Lying next to me

She beats all I ever dreamed

All I've ever dreamed
