I've seen the gray
My back to the sun
I've tried to fix things that can't be undone
I've found someone who never was gone
I heard the words I didn't hear the song

I remember the times when everything felt so strange
Especially my own skin
All the voices dancing side by side in my head
Like they couldn't find a partner
But I like what I see, these days
It's been in front of me but now my eyes are open
I know what I need these days
I stepped outside of myself and found all I needed was you

I've laughed at things while others were crying
I've cried at things while others were smiling
I made mistakes, I'm human I guess
It's you, you don't like, there's no time to rest

I remember the times when everything felt so strange
Especially my own skin
All the voices dancing side by side in my head
Like they couldn't find a partner
But I like what I see, these days
It's been in front of me but now my eyes are open
I know what I need, these days
I stepped outside of myself and found all I needed was
you
That all I needed was you
That all I needed was you
That all I needed was you
That's all I needed

There is so much emptiness, only if you want it
There is so much everything but only if you want it
And everything is everywhere and emptiness it don't make a sound

I like what I see, these days

It's been in front of me but now my eyes are open
I know what I need, these days
I stepped outside of myself and found all I needed was
you
That all I needed was you
That all I needed was you
That all I needed was you
You're all I needed
All I needed was you
