

Colorblind James Experience "Buster Cornelius"

Buster Cornelius was an honest man but he ruled his people with an iron hand Buster Cornelius was a regular Joe but if you did him wrong, he'd let you know

Buster Cornelius was fine and upstanding but to his people he was hard and demanding He was always brave and never cruel but don't ever mistake him for a fool

Buster Cornelius stood four feet four but to his people he was ten feet tall Whether in battle or at the sacred altar, he led them truly and never faltered

Buster Cornelius died at home
They say his age was forty-one They carried him out of his modest room and laid his body in a marble tomb

As heroes go, he was the best Head and shoulders above the rest
And that's why on the third of May, we celebrate Buster Cornelius Day
