"Death Fears No Man"

Death fears no man, nor women none too
Death fears nobody, not me and not you
There's no way of keepin' ol' death from your door
When your time it has come you'll be with us no more

Death fears no man and why would he too?
What in the world now, does death have to lose?
You can beg and entreat him but only in vain
Your days they are numbered when death speaks your name

So try to be ready and don't live too fast
Try to live each day just like it's your last Make peace with your neighbours and with your god too
'Cause the angel of death maybe coming for you
