I had a dream the other night
Oh, what a dreadful dream it was I dreamed that I was on stage and as if that wasn't bad enough
The people were angry and shouted, "Lets rock"
There wasn't a satisfied fan
I whispered back, "I am rocking
Rockin' as fast as I can"
So lets rock! Let's rock! Let's rock! Let's rock!
Rockin' as fast as I can

Well frankly, I had to admit it folks, it wasn't much of a show
Nothing moved and nothing grooved and all the tempos were slow
With people, they shouted, "Hey, turn on the heat"
I heard it again and again
I whispered back, "The heat is on I'm rockin' as fast as I can"
So lets rock! Let's rock! Let's rock! Let's rock!
Rockin' as fast as I can

Some people wanted their money back
That didn't matter to me
But others would only be satisfied when they've got what they'd come there to see So they screamed and hollered, "Hey, come on, get down
That is if you think you still can"
I whispered back, "I am down
I'm rockin' as fast as I can"
So lets rock! Let's rock! Let's rock! Let's rock!
Rockin' as fast as I can
Let's rock! Let's rock! Let's rock! Let's rock!
Rockin' as fast as I can
