Two thousand heroes
Waiting for the sign
Knowing it'll be the end
The end of their lives

Two thousand heroes
On each side of the plain
Sharing the same thoughts
And no one is to blame

Kill the enemy
That's all you gotta do
Kill the enemy
Or else he'll do it to you

Two thousand heroes
Waiting for death to come
The thing that keeps 'em alive
Is the thought he has to kill some

Kill the enemy
That's all you gotta do
Kill the enemy
Or else he'll do it to you

The sound of horns is in the air
Time has come to say your prayer
Try to kill, as many as you can
Those who survive, are real men

Two thousand heroes
No one survived
All that's left
Are bodies without lives

Two thousand heroes
Again they will try
Try to conquer the world
But no one knows why...
