"Quiet"

There's a quiet little man
And he sits at his window
Doesn't make a sound
But he watches where the wind blows
Wants to go outside
Fears wouldn't let him
[Force] a little smile
And the fears come rolling

La la bum bum dum dum dum dum

You can go outside where the sun & the people blind you
You can go outside where the love of the people finds you - it will find you

When he walks through the maze
In the circles of his back place
[While the Jew] on his roof
Is still tying up his shoelace
He will [never curse] again
All the days on his home spent Nailing all the doors
& jumping through the window
