Days go by and I'm still here
The bottom line is it's unclear
Where I'll go and what I'll do
The choice still belongs to you

You don't have to run
You just have to start it over, start it over
The pain is just too strong
You just have to start it over, start it over

I sit at home and watch the fan
Spin around as time still stands
Listen to my favorite song
Lifter tries to lift me up

You don't have to run
You just have to start it over, start it over
The pain is just too strong
You just have to start it over, start it over

Seven words, one weak, teenager nosebleed, birthmark savory
Engine Number 9 be quiet and drive, cherry waves
Sinatra
You will see it's me falling down the path again
Complete with seeds sprouting the roots again

You don't have to run
You just have to start it over, start it over
The pain is just too strong
You just have to start it over, start it over
