Close you eyes, make a wish
And hope one day it comes true
Spread you wings, start to fly
And pray the wind carries you

Because the cold outside takes the warmth from your heart
And the days just make you blue
While the tears of pain fall on your face
Just remember what I say to you

Spread your wings my little angel
And soar into the sky
I will be there to lift you
I will never leave your side
And you'll fly above the clouds
Because you are my child

They laugh at your face, they talk behind your back
They make you feel so small
You cry to God, because you don't understand
And ask if He hears you at all

And don't let the world tear you down
Because they know not who I am
I am Savior, Father, Jesus, God
And you're a child of mine
