

Compos Mentis

"In The Womb Of Winter"

Visit "In The Womb Of Winter" on MotoLyrics.com

We see it as a narration but in the womb of winter time stands still
Nothing echoes and nothing moves

With a universal affection
The winter takes it all
Like a spreading disease
Crimson stains conspicuously on the ground
Cloaked in pestilence, it bleeds
Like a spreading disease

A cold winter morning
Crystalline rime on the ground
White diamonds and pearls
And the world opens it's eyes

A cold winter morning
Bright drops dwell on the pane
Meet in cold embrace
And the world opens it's eyes

Like the sirens' song, the winter reveals itself
As a deadly temptress, fraudulent and haughty
Arraying us in it's wintry veil
Leaving us cold and numb
In the womb of winter

A cold winter day
Bare trees go down on their knees
Stroke the soil with their branches
The pale sun is crossing the sky

A cold winter evening
The snow descends from above
And drapes the ground in white
And the world closes it's eyes

Visit Compos Mentis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.