I know that it seems so hard
But know that worst is over
She won't be coming around
She won't be telling me to come over

But what if she looks at me and smiles?
I burn up when I look into her eyes
She'll come up and put her hand on my leg and she'll say to me...

If you stay with me
I promise you can have your way with me
You can do whatever you want
Just as long as you give it to me endlessly.

So I apologise for all that I put you through
I promise it won't happen
I won't let me do that to you

But what if she looks at me and smiles?
I burn up when I look into her eyes
She'll come up and put her hand on my leg and she'll
say to me...

If you stay with me
I promise you can have your way with me
You can do whatever you want
Just as long as you give it to me endlessly.
