"No Assurance"

Visit "No Assurance" on MotoLyrics.com

Once again we are found staring into the void screaming
what is to become of this life Hope engages fear within our restless minds as we struggle to reconnect and redefine Guarding in our hearts these tests of time Untangling ourselves from this crooked world with no assurance no fall back if we're left to die We will not die alone clutching to riches as we sink as the storm swallows all the brass and gold So keep your white washed black heart
We would have the truth taken from the broken ground Though we make lack the strength with compassion we will carry ourselves Carry each other through this hell
