Sometimes

Everything works out okay

And sometimes, they seem

To go the other way

But it really don't matter at all

It depends on how quickly

You rise when you fall

If you're sure you don't

Stay down too long

And sometimes

Nothing can go wrong

And sometimes, the good times

Don't stay too long

But don't cry

Find out why they don't

And the next time you

Think that they will go

But they won't

And the good times

Will be there when you want

If you try, try to fall in love

Now it's the key to everything
It's the calling of the wind
That sings to you
Plays to you when you are down
If you try, try to look above
Into the clouds and in the sky
That is where the music lies
And you can have it
When you fall in love
Sometimes, the music
Don't come out too well
And sometimes
There really isn't much to tell
But nothing's wrong
It's a song you feel
And the moment you thought of it
It must have been real
Or you wouldn't even thought of it
Though you just try, try to fall in love
Now it's the key to everything
It's the calling of the wind
That sings to you
Plays to you when you are down
If you try, try to look above
To the clouds and in the sky
That is where the music lies and

You can have it when you fall in love
