Is this all part of the game you play
Do you try to make me feel this way
You try to sell me something that you don't believe
I guess for you it's easier this way
I never did hear you complain
And I stand aside
Bite my nails while you decide
I wish that I could hate you but I can't I wish that you would vanish but you're too hard to forget
I can't do if it isn't right
But you're not willing to compromise
I know you think you've got me figured out
You think you know what I'm about
I don't think you'd be surprised
You have to know how hard I've tried
And after all the time we've spent
Would this be something you'd regret
Would you feel the need to stay
Or turn your back and walk away
