I know that things are second rate
Far from great
Without self-security
I know the innocence in you
But is it true
With your hostility
I know it's so unsettled still
And I know you'll do just what you will
Wait for something tomorrow
Tell the world I won't be
Left out again
Late for nothing do I know
What the world will show me
If in doubt again
I know that things are said and done
But who's the one
To break into a frame of mind
And I know the honesty in you
But is it true
Or is it something else to find
I know it's so unsettled still
And I know you'll do just what you will
Wait for something tomorrow
Tell the world I won't be left out again
Late for nothing do I know
What the world will show me if in doubt
Wait for something tomorrow
Tell the world I won't be left out again
Late for nothing do I know
What the world will show me if in doubt again
Tell the world I won't be left out
