

Coptic Rain

"And All I Loved"

I hear the secret knelling skylites in a reddish glow strewing scarlet splendor in the night twilight down stretching upon this town An evening too soon, our lives began to ruin an evening too soon, shelly landscapes burn The night taking us so cold and lunarless

spring in mountains little rain drops buried white frost
I can no longer hate what you love I can no longer feel what you see you feed me with your lies don't let my love for you die you're breaking up my soul don't mind I will survive I will survive.
