Was I born just to bread born just to consume devour life and drown in illusion I cry out my own name profaning such vile drek that clutters my mind which is it's self diseased can the soulless be damned. can you punish those who cannot feel can you purify pure filth I can't escape

this dry wall cage that I slaved to posses and sold my soul for

I can't escape their light neon and putrefying it corrupts my soul with its lies Now I don't want to die just to cease existence for you and me and everything else

I just wasn't some Hindu death God to relieve my pain with one final swipe destroy this universe kali were are you I dream of your lovin' arms caress me gently then crush out my life!
