There's a place you go after dark
Where you send your haunted heart
In the shadows you look for the friend
Who'll take you where the sidewalk ends
It's a sad affair
You reach out but there's no one there

Tell me who's gonna take you home tonight
Take your hand and hold you tight
Who'll be the one to say you're right
And promise you paradise
Who's gonna take you home tonight

You couldn't see that love was the price
What happened to the light in your eyes
Broken dreams fall at your feet
Stand alone on a dead end street

Who's gonna hear your prayer
Look around, there's no one there

Tell me who's gonna take you home tonight
Take your hand and hold you tight
Who'll be the one to say you're right
And promise you paradise
Who's gonna take you home tonight
Turn the darkness into light
And wipe the tears you try to hide
Just another stranger will be taking you home tonight

She'll tell you dreams come true
Stoke the fire out of you
But when the morning dawns
Another angel has gone
You say it's in your blood
One love just isn't enough

Chorus
