Mirror mirror tell me beware
Coldly revealing all the faces I wear
From a teasing smile for boys on the street
To a shifty glance for eyes looking too deep

Feel the light as it shines so bright
Will I ever understand you
Reach inside the truth is alive
Will I ever understand you
Always fighting to find out why
But it seems the answer fades into a white flag sky
Feel the light as it shines so bright
Will I ever understand you

Mirror Mirror tell me no lies
Never concealing the truth I deny
People as playthings, games with no rules
Queen takes King on a knight for a fool

Mirror Mirror I could turn away
From cracks on the glass and lines on my face
Seven years searching - Will this ever end
A second's reflection I'm searching again
Will I ever understand you
Will I ever, never
