No eye has seen no ear has heard no mind conceived what God has prepared for those who believe a man with out God does not accept can't understand because he is spiritually dead here is the wise here is the scholar live for today nothing else matters heaven is now death is tomorrow wake up you foolish man a time is coming when all shall see the splendor and glory awaiting you and me where will you be when facing God when all you knowledge won't mean a lot and now you see you should have believed but it's too late to enter heaven's gates the gnashing of teeth where the worm dieth not you made your home where you reside now where is the wise now where is the scholar he lived for that day now everything matter reality of false teaching foolishness in his wisdom cost him his life do no deceive yourself
