And I'll wait around for one more minute, when one more could finish me off
And I think...I'll hold my breath for one more second
One more second's never seemed so long
So go on...

And I'll just wait here by myself
I'll sit and pull apart another year
When I remember nothing
Don't try to decide, 'cause it's an answer I can't take
And I know that you've tried, but you might break

One reaction to one direction and where it goes

Find myself regretting more than ever
And if only I had known

I want it all!
And I don't want you to throw it all...
Throw it all away for me
Not for me!

And I'll just wait here by myself
I'll sit and pull apart another year
Sometimes I hate myself for leaving
And I'll never let you down again
Don't try to decide, 'cause it's an answer I can't take
And I know that you've tried, but you might break
