Rain falls down on my head. The sky turns gray. Lightning strikes the trees. But I saw you in my heart. Fallen September. Have you ever seen this before? Fallen September. You make me break my heart. I went home from work the other day. And the sky turned ominous. A tornado came. I called my kids outside. Fallen September. Have you ever seen this before? Fallen September. You make me break my heart. September. September. September. Fallen September. Have you ever seen this before? Fallen September. You make me break my heart. Fallen September.
