(Kurt Stevenson, Patrick Winningham, & Chris Boesel)
Originally recorded for the Georgia soundtrack

I got a feeling of unrighteousness bitter cold hollow bitterness
down the road
I walk with loneliness mercy will follow me I'm told Beneath this skin there lies a heart of stone It's growing old so very far, from home
but a heart of gold
I may someday own? and mercy will follow me, I'm told mercy will you follow me
mercy will you follow me to the final breath at last I take
mercy will you follow me
mercy will you follow me
Till the chain of this old world I finally break.

My sister sang songs so sweet and sad bout a man whos love I never had there's a train bound for gillian?
till my final breath at last I take
mercy will you follow me
Till the chains of this old world I finally break
