Sometimes when I look into your eyes The hurt and pain I see makes me want to cry. The stars are so big and the earth is so small; Stay as you are stay as you are Sometimes when I look into your eyes The beauty that I see makes me want to cry. The stars are so big and the earth is so small; Stay as you are, stay as you are life before death Stay as you are life before death Stay as you are life before death Stay as you are life before death Stay as you are life before death Stay as you are life before death.
