"Don't Wait"

I know the life you're living, you're broken within You've tried to fill a void with the pleasure of sin
But the word will never give you the peace you're looking for
The fulfillment that you're trying to find is the knock at your hearts door

Chorus:

Don't wait to give your life to him
He's holding out His arms of love to welcome you in Leave your past behind you, press forward and believe There's so much more for you to receive Don't wait too late

You tried so hard to fit in day after day
Not thinking who hurt you, not thinking what you say
But looking in your eyes I see you're only trying to hide
The little child who's screaming from the dungeon deep inside

(Chorus)
