Swirling colors surround my face
I see the brightness in you
Try to spin my pain in you
It's all I've wanted, all this time
To travel the world with you
Is God up there watching you?
To expend the light with you
By the end there's so much new.

I'm goin' to that place where the ocean's deep far and wide
The sky goes on forever in my mind and I can see it's rain
If all of the reasons could be shown
And I can't see you in the light
The forward pouring rain
Will not be crushed beneath the rock

I topple you (x4)

Why do the seasons change?
And why must it have all the rain?
Why must the weekends end?
And why must I still take all that's done tonight?

Ooo, I don't know
Why all this happens to me
Still I go on
I travel always toward the sea...

I topple you (x4)

All I ever wanted was for you to say
Before you were mine life was just misery
Ooo as the river flows
Children are singing
I hear you callin' back for me

I topple you (x4)
