If only I could find a place to call my own, I'll take you
there

If only I could find a place to call home, I'll take you
there

But as I wish I could find a way to escape all these lies I'm searching for an answer

So let's fly away, to a world without worries
And we could flee all our nightmares to follow our dreams
So how bout we fly
Let's fly away tonight

Searching for a way to fly, starting to run out of time Escaping life full of lies, or starting to lose interest and never try

Still hoping I can find a way to escape my life
And I've finally found the answer

So let's fly away, to a world without worries
And we could flee all our nightmares to follow our
dreams
So how bout we fly
Let's fly away tonight

So let's fly away, to a world without worries
And we could flee all our nightmares to follow our
dreams
So how bout we fly
Let's fly away tonight

If only I could find a place to call my own
