Words and Music by Stephen Stills and Michael Stergis

When you know there's someone

You can talk to

And she's waiting by the door

When you get home

With her hand she'll caress

Away your worries

You are alive

I hope you know

That you're alive

When you're waiting for her standing

By the doorway

And your heart is laughing as

She turns the key

Here it comes again, always

The same feeling

You are alive

And so is she

Chorus

Do you know

What life would be without her?

Do you know

What loneliness can be?

You'll die by yourself

Only with someone else-why?

When it's all a game and

There is no pleasure

And you're just like all the rest

Cannot see

And you're feeling like there's

No more point in searching

Are you alive?

How could it be

Are you alive?

I'd like to see

If you're alive.
