[Logic thoughts rule my world and they're running
through my head
Only seeing things the way you think they should be
Upholding honor and respect is the way I live
To have trust is the hardest when I've seen it all before
I've known for some time that you're one of them
Wanting nothing and you're giving nothing more
I've dealt with your kind and you're all the same
Let me tell you that you're not alone

Only seeing things the way you think they should be
Never knowing never feeling never hurting me?
To have trust is the hardest when I've seen it before
And this is what I have to deal with now
Wanting nothing and you're giving nothing more
I never thought I'd be the one to have to lay the blame
I've dealt with your kind and you're all the same
Let me tell you that you're not alone

Many I know, think just as you do
Of nothing of no one... exception... yourself
Biding my time and not getting to close
This is not how I will now die

Committed to nothing you walk with closed eyes
I'm cleansing the world of the scum that resides
Not fearing the ones that will cause me disgust
I know that I am all that I have left

Time waits for nothing, no one
Never could understand why
I'll retain my dignity
Never given you a reason to lie

Logic thoughts rule my world and they're running
through my head
Only seeing things the way you think they should be
Upholding honor and respect is the way I live
To have trust is the hardest when I've seen it all before
I've known for some time that you're one of them
Wanting nothing and you're giving nothing more

I've dealt with your kind and you're all the same
Let me tell you now that you're not alone.
