The box was taken to the edge of the earth
There it will be safe from all the evils that exist on this world
To feel all of life has been talked about
You're in trouble
You've got yourself to blame
Forces are pushing away
With forty people
You fought to free your demons
He tested your mind
To be the leader
Shame made you crawl back again from me to breathe
And be a man.
Born without the concept of hate
Taught to act afraid
I've seen your last mistake
Start to learn though pain
What you taken before's
What you mustn't break
I've seen you last mistake
There has to be a better way
Better way
I need more power to hate
Turned around by failure
I've seen you last mistake
Turned around by:
Man's brutality and his in-inability in feel empathy,
With misery is one of mankind worst sins
It is the very basis of human degradation,
And if man can create so much suffering,
What right does he have to complain when he himself suffers?
Born without the concept of hate
Taught to act afraid
I see your last mistake
Carved in my sore head
Thought that people would learn
But to my surprise
I've seen your last mistake
We have to find a better way

A better way
I need more power to hate
Turned around by failure
I've seen you last mistake
Turned around by:
