In hindsight I can see love ain't blind so I take, one step forward, two steps back. In hindsight I can see love ain't blind so I...

Must voice, trust choice. But when was there ever one to shun? I won't rape, don't hope, to find inbetween, a way to stay as I am - torn in two.

I'm torn - torn in two, into make one count.

For the greater good I should, I would,
I could forget and forfeit. No regret. I won't let me forget, no regret.

My decision to break will be the incision
I make. Take it away, all for the best.

Make me, take it away - all for the best,
and the test will come...

To remain the same I'll play the waiting game - it's just a matter of time. But it's something that's not on my side. With the gun of fate loaded for me to bite the bullet. I'll leave a love, I'll lose a love.

The only choice left, left from right.
Right from the start, a broken heart, is torn in two. I'm torn into you.
