The night sky, like a busy street
Where millions of us never meet
The worlds not very little after all
It took so very long to see
Now your pains become a part of me
I'm hurting buy my hurt won't break your fall

Cause I've got enough to help me
And I've got enough to help you
But your one of a million stars
Cause I've got enough to help me
And I've got enough to help you
But your one of a million stars

The night sky, Like an ocean deep
We're drowning with the hopes hopes we keep Cause we're so very little after all
If every single star is breathing
And even only one is weeping
How could things so big look so damn small
