You set your standards at forever No one lives at that level A start so strong, you gave so much In no time you were out of touch Do what you want, I could care less Burn that bridge you hope to forget You knew youd leave too but thats just life I cant worry about you Faces come and faces go I used to judge but now I dont Faces come and faces go I used to judge but now I dont I looked up to those destined to leave I respect change but I still believe Faces come and faces go I used to judge but now I dont The ones whove settled are the ones whove lost on second thought Well maybe not Who am I to judge when you decide to go? What do I know? Nothing Nothing Nothing Nothing
