Such a bright eyed young man
With the world at my feet
Offered such amazing opportunities
Bullshit

False friendship plagued me through this process
Now I'm free I can start again, the reawakening

I've, lived the life of a recording artist
And been unfulfilled
Take this, take that,
Drain me until my passion is gone

Music was something I did for the love of
You took it from me
So many fucking sleepless nights and headaches
That no one else saw

Fuck this bullshit industry
I've had more then my fair share
Now I'll do it passionately
And let myself grow

I remember a time all too long ago
Music was my love my true meaning
I couldn't get enough
My waking obsession
These times are long behind me
It's got me thinking
It's got me thinking
It's got me thinking

And as I sit here writing this I can feel it coming back
All the joy I felt creating something from deep inside me
Working through those late, late nights
With nothing but drive to create
This is when I was content
This is my therapy

I've, lived the life of a recording artist
And been unfulfilled

Take this, take that,
Drain me until my passion is gone

Music was something I did for the love of
You took it from me
So many fucking sleepless nights and headaches
That no one else saw

Fuck this bullshit industry
I've had more than my fair share
Now I'll do it passionately
And let myself grow

I'm free! What a great feeling
What ya gonna do?
No more bullshit promises
You forced me into this

I'm free! What a great feeling
No more bullshit promises
You forced me into this
