Some things just never cross my mind:
Like when my friends need a back I wont puss out,
There's no questioning that.

Everything can change. It's just a matter of time.
But I know these things will never cross my mind:
I'll never turn my back on my family,
Because they're the ones who fucking made me
Who I am, so I owe them,
And they're in my blood forever.

Everything can change. It's just a matter of time.
But I know these things will never cross my mind.

All of the sudden it's like the game ain't the same.
People turn their backs on what they once believed.
There's some regrets I can never live with.
But I swear some things will never cross my mind
