Betrayed your confidence
For my independence
But I'll waste it till you come home
You told me a thousand times
To keep myself in line

I can face it when you come home
I've told a million lies
Can't look in the eyes but I'll try
Just one more reason why

If you want to, tear me down
All I've built, burn to the ground
You're justified, just one more reason why

You think I never cared
I gave all I could spare
I didn't fake it, when I came home
You'd stay up through the night
I'd stumble in at light

And you'd take it when I came home
I struggled way too long
In between right and wrong but I'll try
Just one more reason why

If you want to tear me down
All I've built, burn to the ground
You're justified, just one more reason why
One more reason why

If you want to, tear me down
All I've built, burn to the ground
You're justified, just one more reason why
