Do you know the feeling
If everything in your life is against you
When no one can really help you
And the cry for equality gets stuck in your throat

Hope shines through it all and makes it's way

Do you know the feeling
If you don't receive an answer
To the question why
Things happen the way they do

Hope shines through it all, that doesn't let you down

Still he is there, that's what you may hope, still he's there
Still he's there and keeps you in his arms still he's there

Do you know the feeling
When you ask yourself where God is
When you pray and you don't feel
That your prayers will be heard

Hope shines through it all, that is given to you by HIM

Still he is there...

It's the hope that carries you through
It's the hope that dies at last

Hope shines through it all
It's the hope that dies at last

Still he is there...
