"Empty Bottle Translations"

It's questions like...

"If the ocean froze and formed into a huge sheet of ice, would you skate to the other side of the world just to hold my hand?"

That your smiles are quick to counter

So I'll continue to dim the lights as you keep thinking that you've got me fooled

Because you can't translate an empty bottle into something that you'd like to hear

So dress your tongue up in a suit that's way too loose around the hips

Because this is as improper as this is going to get

And I know I'm not the sharpest kid in the class

But i'm gonna cut away at your curves and turn you into a perfect rectangle

A twin to the casket you're throwing mission "us" in two

So Let's drink until we pass out

We're lit and singing out loud (whoa whoa)
