Another page has been added to this storybook i'm writing. my time here's overdue. more sad stories that i'll share with friends. i'm wondering why love falls it ends. Just when I thought that, that you were the one. once again it seems as though, life has proved me wrong. otherwise you'd stay but, that letter you wrote it. it obviously stated, i wasn't what you wanted. forget me now, our time is over. if i had one wish, i'd start all over. how can you say that you're never wrong? it's always you that's alone. all this time you have been, fixing what's not broken. bind pieces of my heart, it's true that yours is frozen. why are you holding on, the choice was yours to make. life conflicts with life sometimes that choice your biggest mistake. forget me now its over. start over.
