Once a bond of love and trust, now that's all but faded away.

we're nothing but a shell of what we used to be, cold and bitter from this decay.

what good will ever come of this?

another clenched fist or another kiss?

it won't change, it never will out with the old and in with the kill!

temperatures rise talking on the phone while we bitch and moan and nag.

i'm sick of the abuse that comes with "working it out"

just give me a fucking body bag!

nothing you say can change my mind, cause i'm not fine.

you've hurt me for the last time you've had your fun

now i'll have mine!
