Another year goes by and still my world is grey.
so many chances i didn't take,
i've watched my future fade away.
as the years pass by, my ambitions die.
i sit alone in my room, feeling beaten by my only hope.
it's getting harder to live with myself when it's obvious
that i can't hope
another stone is turned, another problem i can't mend.

the path i've chosen for life is looking more like a dead end.
as the years pass by, my ambitions die.
i sit alone in my room, feeling beaten by my only hope.
it's getting harder to live with myself when it's obvious
that i can't hope
