Turning now she caught his eye
For all he knows he cannot see
Pleasures smolder inside
Cover seasons that fell from view long ago

Blame on your heart
But then you know that now
What do you do, you hide lies inside
Why do you do that, I don't know why

How long did I know you for
I don't know why you had to go
If only you had told her
The words to enfold her long ago

She took a breath and she never spoke
The words tasted like
To know she told a matinee

There was an odor [Inaudible] anyway

But you can take and you can see
There's never enough of love for destiny
Don't look back from day to day
What I noticed wasn't me

Strangers, they'll part again
They'll never know
For all the years they've disguised inside
Knowing their years of loss remain

How long did I know you for
I don't know why you had to go
If only you had told her
The words to enfold her long ago
