we've get along together i should have known you're the best that i can love till now it's hard for me to face it why didn't we meet each other soon i left them all behind you, only for you would you believe me i put my trust on you but deep inside i realize that i can't, no i can't they were all my brother my cry and happiness

so would you let me be myself reach all my my dreams and hopes i know you've known me better i know you love me, you do your eyes says more than anything that really means to me so darling would you now would you set me free
