We became far too much accustomed to silence
Our war instinct became numb
We, people, who succeeded blood of brave great men

More, more, I want to fly so far
Surely, I should struggle

I'm leaving...
One day everyone will become the wind of infinity
That's why I want to leave behind me the meaning of living
Even if my body breaks and disappears
I won't turn around
That's what I decided

Wake up my dear...

What are your eyes glaring at?
What have your hands grasped?
In this world, which consists of things
More important than sacrifices

More, more, I want to fly so high
Surely, we should meet one day

I'm leaving...
One day everyone will become the wind of infinity
That's why I want to love and present you
I see everything in a lie
I will believe only you

I'm leaving...
One day everyone will become the wind of infinity
That's why I want to leave behind me the meaning of
living
I will be strong for those, who are fleeting

When I'll become wind, I want to continue living inside you
It's my wish
I'm leaving
