Beauty is a blessing
I knew a guy called Dennis
He wanted to change his name
He said to call him Tony
- didn't change that frame.
I went down to the city
I wanted to buy a dress
The girl behind the counter
Told me this:
Nananana, nananana x 4
I went to see my baby
To have my baby please me
But he said "honey, I'm tired,
Can't we just watch some TV?"
I said to myself "why bother!"
I went to find another
But nobody was at home
So I spent my night alone
And beauty is a blessing - love is even more
Beauty is a blessing - you can't buy it in a store
Some of us are trying for years to compensate
Some will turn to goodness
And some will turn to hate.
