"Drag Me To The Curb"

Like a legend about to retire
Take a bath with an electric wire
Or feed myself to a grizzly bear
I wanna she'd this skin
Find a new someone within
Throw out the old me – let a new one in

Drag me to the curb
'Fore the city's awake
Leave me on the street
For the junkman to take
Some people said
That I couldn't change
Some people said
I'd never rise again
It feels like I won't find out

It's not about will or intentions
Just rise to the occasion
Ain't waiting for anything,
-That haven't been here before
While I've been crawling on my knees
I've learned it's not a disease
Pride always comes before a fall
