Can't tell you in full
What a secret will do
In a world of fiction everything is true
And too much trouble
Won't be enough
To get to the place where the end had begun
Emotions are blind
Hey but now I'm fine...

You lay yourself down
On a track of lies
You know where that leads
You're looking for something
You've been trying to hide
But your lips are sealed

A soul's made of love
And love's made of time
So except for the end there's no limits for life
But when things go bad
And there's nowhere to cross
You forget the truth, and miss your train of thoughts
Emotions are blind
But now I'm fine...

You lay yourself down
On a track of lies
You know where that leads
You're looking for something
You've been trying to hide
But your lips are sealed
Lay yourself down
On a track of tears
That's how a secret feels
